

Adarsh Das

Co-Founder and Chief Executive Officer
SunSource Energy

Adarsh Das is the Co-Founder and CEO of SunSource Energy, one of India's leading distributed solar companies. He is an entrepreneur, a passionate advocate of solar energy, and a firm believer in sustainability. Under his leadership, SunSource Energy has grown exponentially and expanded its footprint across 6 countries. Adarsh was also instrumental in successfully raising equity from leading domestic and international investors to scale up operations for the firm in India and abroad.

With over two decades of industry experience, Adarsh has worked with several well-known solar and renewable companies such as SELCO, GE Wind, Solectria, and a stint in management consulting with Booz Allen Hamilton. Adarsh's background in solar engineering, research, project financing, and extensive implementation of solar power plants across the globe makes him a well-known member of the international solar energy fraternity. He is a sought-after speaker at major industry platforms and often contributes to top publications.

Adarsh is an MBA from Ross Michigan, Ann Arbor. He has done his B. Tech in Energy Engineering from the Indian Institute of Technology, Kharagpur, and has earned a Masters in Solar Engineering from the University of Massachusetts.
